

WE'VE GOT A TALENT FOR BIOTECH

THE HR SOLUTION TO SPEED YOUR GROWTH.

Growing a biotech company hinges on the development of your core technology. But there's another facet of your business that can't be overlooked: No matter how innovative your technology may be, you need the right people to make it soar.

Once you've recruited the best talent, can you provide great compensation to keep them there? Retaining talent requires the right strategies, skills and resources. That's where The QTI Group delivers a breakthrough proposition.

Transforming HR from a burden to a benefit.

Our team is strategically positioned to deliver services specific for biotech companies on the fast track to growth. We help you in three key strategic areas: talent acquisition, human resources, and consulting on specific human resources projects.

Talent acquisition, or staffing, is a critical issue for a growing company. Superior talent is a highly-prized commodity in the biotech field — which is why we work closely with you to establish the right profile and compensation package. Only then can we recruit aggressively through our talent pipeline to find the ideal candidate.

You may not be able to devote the time or expertise to provide necessary human resources. Don't worry. Our Professional Employee Organization (PEO) lifts the HR burden from your back. We bundle HR, payroll and benefits administration services into a cost-effective arrangement tailored to your company.

Finally, QTI Consulting can complement a biotech company that has its own human resources component. What's our most sought-after service? Customized compensation strategies developed through the use of industry-specific data and other assessment tools.

QTI — Biotech Specific Services

Within each of our three key areas you'll find unique services specifically geared for the biotech industry.

TALENT ACQUISITION

We provide flexible placement options, including temporary employees, contract-to-hire, and direct hire. With leading industry assessment tools to ensure you make the right hire, we also provide services custom-tailored to specific parts of your recruiting process.

PROFESSIONAL EMPLOYER ORGANIZATION

We bundle Human Resource, Payroll and Benefits Administration into one valuable package. QTI Human Resources is the perfect HR solution for small to mid-size organizations (up to 200 employees) that want to outsource their administrative human resource needs.
